Thinking Out Loud

(By H. M. L.)

The tide of public approval of the $118,000 school bond issue is steadily rising. This city has been living from hand to mouth in the matter of school facilities for the past generation. Now with prosperous conditions throughout the county, with Uncle Sam standing ready to give a helping hand if we will help ourselves, the time is ripe for a little long distance planning. The moment is opportune to create and carry through an adequate housing plan for the city's present 700 school chillren, and for the steady increase in this number from year to year. Next Thursday, October 10, is the day when all forward looking citizens will turn out and vote: "Yes."

The Mining Association of California declares: "The levying of a severance tax on gold is uneconomic and discriminative, since the gold miner can only sell to the government at a fixed price. It would halt the growing progress of gold mining in California, throw men out of work, stop the rising demand for machinery, supplies and foodstuffs, and lead to the withdrawal of foreign capital now being invested in California gold mines. It would constitute a tax on industry, a penalty against those whose initiative, courage and capital, are developing the state and the nation, and who are responsible for the gains made against the depression." To all of which all understanding citizens will cry: "Amen."

President Roosevelt, reading the beaming faces of some 60,000 spectators in Los Angeles Memorial Stadium gathered there to welcome him, declares: "It is assured, as shown not by fgures alone, but by the fine spirit of the great mass of Americans in every part of the country, that we have come through stormy seas into fair weather." The inference of course is that the President thinks the Democratic administration had much to do with it. "Chanticler" was the name of a wonderful French drama produced some thirty years ago. The golden cock, hero of this play, each morning gallantly crowed and lo, the sun came up. He believed, this proud Chanticler, that only his clarion voice could lift the sun over the horizon.

As predicted the effect of the death of Huey Long is the destruction of his political machine in Louisiana. Lesser men are fighting for his place. None of them has developed the ability to occupy it, and exercise the authority of a dictatorship. The result will be felt nationally. The chance of a radical, third party with a share the wealth program next year is practically nil, whereas, according to a book which he was about to publish, Long expected to be a candidate for president and was confident of election. We suspect that there is a large body of citizens in Louisiana who would like to raise a monument to the late Dr. Weiss.

The rainy season which is nearly over in Ethiopia, is just beginning in California. All Nevada County has had a good shower bath and feels better for it. On the high plateau of Abyssinia a swift spring is on the way, a season to be marked by the blossoming of all nature and the death and corruption of countless human beings. There is slight hope that war will be averted, yet Italy is hesitating. That huge British fleet in the Mediterranean, a monster fleet of air and sea craft, gives Il Duce pause. The Bully of Europe is in a sad dilemna. He has been waiting for the rains to cease. He may wait awhile, even though it costs a tremendous sum to keep a quarter million troops on the borders of Ethiopia. Whatever befalls Il Duce is on his way out, and the chief usher is England.

CATTLE POISONED IN PLACERVILLE DISTRICT

Mr. Leland Smith, who is in charge of the grazing department of the Tahoe National forest, left Nevada City yesterday for Placerville for a several day stay. Many head of cattle are taken from the National Forest through that district and a lot of them have been poisoned from eating some herb. Mr. Smith will make an investigation and attempt to isolate it.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Palmer of Reno, Nevada, spent last week end in Nevada City visiting with Mrs. Palmer's mother, Mrs. Effie Goering.

Future Citizens Tell of Need for New School

In another column reasons are given by several leading citizens regarding the need for new school buildings.

In today's issue of the "Ore Car", a mimiographed newspaper printed by the students in the Washington grammar school some of the leading citizens of tomorrow give their views, under the general head of "Why We Need a New School House." Here they are:

Bill Norton

Nevada City needs a new schoolhouse because the light is poor, the staircases are rickety, and the plaster is falling down.

Bob Carr

This one is old and not safe. Suppose you lost a child in a fire in this schoolhouse. Would you like that? No, you would not. So vote "Yes" on the school bond issue.

Catherine Davis

If we have a new school house it will mean higher taxes, but if we don't, many lives may be lost by fire.

Bill Harwick

Because you see,
If a fire there should be,
It would burn to the ground.
And nothing could be found.

Doreen Watson

A new schoolhouse? Yes! As you enter the present building, you come into a cloak room and then a wood room or whatever it is.

Carlton Orzalli

We need a new schoolhouse because this one has been here for 67 years. They can raise the money if they want to.

Bernice Bankus

If the voters went to school now, they would be willing to pay higher taxes.

Homer Sherwood.

It is not as sanitary as it might be.

Jane Bennett

It has very poor lighting fixtures and it has only a few of the modern conveniences.

George Schrader

We need lights to see by. On dark days we can hardly see what we are writing or reading.

Doris Rosynski

We need a bigger singing room and improvements in the basement. There are boards coming off, leaving nails sticking out.

Raymond Brown

Why I think we need a new school house is that the one we are in is worn out.

Madeline Bettles

We need a new schoolhouse because the plaster falls on our heads.

Robert Maempe

This building is old-fashioned and unsanitary.

Betty Lou Krough

My grandmother went to school in it when she was a girl.

Jim White

We should have more fire extinguishers. We should have showers. When we come in from physical education, we are tired, hot, dirty and in low spirits.

Beverly Paxson

This school was new in 1868, so it lacks only 33 years of being one hundred years old. We should have a new school, built with low ceilings so it would be easier to keep heated in the winter.

Stanley Vrancah

In Nevada City the people are thinking about a bond issue to get the money for a brand new school that will catch up with 1935 in style.

Vera Adams

The one now occupied is very old-fashioned and dilapidated.

Catherine Tognarelli

The floors creak and the light is poor.

Betty Norton

Think of the clothes the women and men wore back in 1868. Do we want our school to be that old-fashioned!

Claire Randall

Are the people willing to have their taxes raised to help the children of their city? All over the town new homes and new buildings are going up and old ones are being remodeled. Should our school, built, in 1868, sixty-seven years ago, be left as it is?

Ellsworth Pingree

We need a new school!
By gosh, we do!
So vote "Yes,"
For a bond issue.

Hal Draper

Notice!

An order for 450 war helmets has been placed for the purpose of keeping falling plaster from the heads of the Washington grammar school children.

George Schrader

The old oaken schoolhouse,
The iron-bound schoolhouse,
The moss-covered schoolhouse,
That leaned on a crutch.

NEVADA CITY LEADERS APPROVE SCHOOL BOND

Once again the Nugget is publishing a column of quotations from the citizens of Nevada City concerning their viewpoint of the school bond issue. It is to be understood that comments are invited either for or against the issue, and all interviews made are published regardless of the stand taken on the subject. This is merely an attempt to bring before the people of this city the real viewpoint of its leading citizens:

Fred F. Cassidy, President Nevada City Chamber of Commerce.

It is obvious to any well-informed citizen that we must have better housing facilities to take care of the over crowded conditions in both our high school and our grammar school. Whether we receive sufficient Federal help to take care of this condition or not, the issue must be faced. I hope the voters will give the proposed bond issues unanimous approval.

Frank G Finnegan, Attorney at Law

The progress of a community depends upon the adequacy of its educational facilities, and now is the time for our community to vote the bonds in order to take advantage of the government grant.

Dr. John R. Ivey, Dentist.

"It is difficult to understand how anyone would oppose an issue of this kind when the health and safety of the children and students of Nevada City depend upon it. I am certainly in favor of the school bonds."

Dr. C. W. Chapman, Dentist.

"I am willing to accept the judgment of the teachers regarding the convenience and adequacy of the school building; but let others think as they may, I have for years carried to my pillow a dread of fire in that old Washington school-house. I receive no solace from the phrase. 'It will never nappen'."

Ella M. Austin, County Superintendent of Schools.

"Of course I'm in favor of the school bond issue, and I'll do everything I can to help it to success."

George L. Jones, Attorney at Law.

"I am heartily in favor of the bond issue. It represents needs to be filled and offers an opportunity which we cannot afford to pass by."

Dr. A. N. Morgan, Dental Surgeon.

"I attended Nevada City schools in years gone by, and I am in favor of the bond issue."

E. J. Kilroy, Senior Clerk, Post-Office.

"The lives and welfare of the American youth must be safely guarded and protected. My stand has always been: advancement in community welfare; protection of life and limb. I'm for the bond issue 100 per cent."

$25 FOR WORMY FRUIT

Mr. S. R. Whipple, of the state department of agriculture, was in Nevada City this week looking over the fruit and vegetable markets of Nevada City and Grass Valley, with Mr. L. G. Lageson, county horticultural commissioner.

Mr. Lageson arrested the manager of the Pacific Grocery of Grass Valley for having badly worm infested and rotten peaches early this

CHEROKEE-COLUMBIA SCHOOL FEUD SETTLED

In a letter received from State Superintendent of Schools Vierling Kersey approves the plan submitted by County Superintendent of Schools Ella M. Austin to the Cherokee district, whereby an emergency teacher will be furnished instead of transportation on the same financial basis, while six or more pupils are in attendance.

The Cherokee school is located in the same district as the Columbia Hill school where there are fifteen children in attendance. Both of these cities are old mining towns that had quite a large population during the 49'er times, and until recent years there were many pupils in both schools. At present the towns are inhabited by many transient families.

PROBATE OF JESSIE NIVENS WILL

The holographic will of the late Mary Nivens was filed for probate Tuesday in the superior court by Jones and Finnegan as attorneys for John Nivens, sole executor. Personal property and mining property are bequeathed to John Nivens. The family homestead off east Broad street is devised to Miss H. L. Nivens, subject to a life estate to John Nivens and Dal Nivens, deceased.

SPECIAL SERVICE

There is to be a special service at the Methodist church in Nevada City next Sunday morning with Bishop James C. Baker of San Francisco delivering the sermon. A musical program has been arranged as a part of the service.

Students, 700 Strong, Parade Tonight in Appeal for Buildings

The voices of seven hundred students shall not go unheard in this great campaign for school bonds. Tonight at 7:30 one of the most important parades ever held in Nevada City will start from Armory Hall.

It will be a long parade, and a sincere one. It will be the parade of the students from the Washington grammar school and the Nevada City high school demonstrating to the local citizens that the passing of the bond issue means something to them that it represents a real cause, an appeal that must not go unheeded. From the first grade in grammar school to the senior class at high school—all will be there. Citizens have written about the bonds, teachers have spoken about it, and adults have made their contribution; and tonight, those who are most familiar with the crowded and dangerous conditions present in both schools will do their part.

Headed by the Purple and Gold high school band, the line of march will start at Armory Hall, follow down Broad street to the Plaza, back up Commercial and over Pine to the junction of Pine and Broad where a stop will be made. The two school busses from San Juan and Willow Valley will be present with appropriate placards on them, the students from both places remaining in town to take part in the affair. The students from the Washington school house will march in classes and be ready with yells and stunts to add live interest to a very live issue.

Miss Ford and Mr. McGinnis of the grammar school have planned to organize surprising and interesting entries for the parade, particulars of which will not be revealed until the actual demonstration takes place tonight.

Principals Carlson and Kjorlie have worked diligently with the faculties of both schools in preparation for tonight's event, and the cooperation of the students has shown their active interest in the issue.

Every citizen must consider himself invited to witness this parade. It makes little difference which side of the issue one is upon, the enthusiasm of two student groups appealing for a new deal in educational facilities will be of interest to all. The time is seven-thirty this evening; the place is, Broad and Commercial streets from Pine down; the success will depend upon the interest of the people in the school children of Nevada City.

Messrs. Faundren, Frank Haddick and Clarence Osborne enjoyed a most successful fishing trip on the Middle Yuba River near Graniteville last Sunday. They caught ten rainbow trout weighing over two pounds each, one of two and three quarters pounds, besides several smaller ones.

Mrs. Arnold Jackson returned home Wednesday from a several days visit with her mother and other family members in San Francisco.

SCHOOL APRON DISPLAY

The first year class in home making at Nevada City high school had a display of aprons in the main corridor during Wednesday noon of this week. The making of aprons is the first problem which the girls in this class undertake, and the excellent exhibit proved that their work in this line has certainly been of great benefit.

Miss Bartholomew teaches classes in the home making department, and she promised exhibits of further accomplishments before term's end.

KNOW YOUR COMMUNITY'S BUSINESS FIRMS

Grass Valley and Nevada City are known all over the United States for their mining activity, our business interests of every line of endeavor are also gaining popularity because of our progressiveness to make our communities self sustaining.

In the past few issues we have told you about this and that firm, Who, Why and Where and in this brief article we give you a resume of one of Nevada Cities most progressive firms.

The Nevada City Bottling Works, located on Washington Road. This firm is owned and managed by E R. Stambaugh.

Mountain Maid beverages is the trade name for the many varieties of soft drinks put out by this firm and their popularity has grown throughout entire Nevada County. In fact if you have never drank these popular brands you have a surprise in store for you.

Mountain Maid beverages are manufactured under the most rigid sanitary conditions, the plant is thoroughly equipped with modern machinery, so that everything connected with their make up is touched very little by human hands. The pure mountain water make Mountain Maid beverages as near 100 per cent pure as possible as well as to add health to every drink.

Just recently we noticed an article in a health magazine written by a famous specialist who said: "If every person, regardless of age would drink more pure Soda Water, they would be more healthful because of the health giving ingredients.

When purchasing soda water anywhere in Grass Valley and Nevada City may we suggest that you insist upon local product. Insist on getting Mountain Maid brands. We know that you will not be disappointed with their quality and price.

In addition to manufacturing soda waters, Mr. Stambaugh is distributor for Golden Glow and Golden State Beers and wholesale liquors. He has a large investment in our community, and is a large factor in our commercial development. The public is invited to inspect his plant and to avail themselves of getting the best —drink Mountain Maid beverages.

TAX BATTLES AT POLLS LOOMS AT NEXT ELECTION

(By JOSEPH H. TAYLOR)

California voters will be called upon to render the veredict in a veritable "tax battle of the century" at next year's general election, according to current prognostications along the political Rialto.

And out of the free-for-all melee, it is predicted in some quarters, may come the most tangled tax problem in the state's history, with a dried-up treasury and no water in the well.

The threatening titantic tax struggle—which many of the dopesters predict will end in a hurricane of defeats, but no victories, resolves itself around the following facts, forecasts and developments.

1. Announcement by foes of the newly adopted state income tax that a constitutional amendment will be submitted to the people, via initiative, to repeal the income levy and forbid its re-enactment, except by popular vote.

2. Forecast that foes of the sales tax—the state's master revenue producer—will be spurred into action by the anti-income tax battle and will launch a determined drive for repeal of the sales levy. Incidentally, a sales tax repeal act, ingeniously incorporated in a "single tax" act, already has been qualified for a place on the 1935 ballot.

3. Prediction that the voting public, which is often inclined to be against all taxes on general principles, may vote for the repeal of both the income and the sales tax. This, in effect, would constitute smashing defeats for the advocates of both the income and the sales levy, leaving the state with no substitute revenue sources except the generally "single tax" proposal.

DIRE FORECASTS

With the election still more than a year distant, dire predictions should undoubtedly be discounted to some extent. On the other hand, the public tendency to be against all taxes is a factor which cannot be carelessly brushed aside.

Paradoxical though it may seem, it is qute within the the realm of possibility that the income tax, bitterly opposed by the well-to-do and wealthy, and the sales tax, just as bitterly condemned by modest wage-earners and the poor, could both be voted into the discard at the same election.

Certain it is that the action of opponents of the income tax in launching a repeal campaign will intensify and solidify opposition to the sales tax, as the income levy was enacted by the legislature on the theory that it would act as an offset to inequalities of the sales tax.

And the in between taxpaying groups, opposed to taxation, regardless of its manner or form, are quite likely to give aid and comfort to both sides.

SINGLE TAX BOOSTED

To California agriculture, the situation is dangerous in the extreme.

The "sngle tax" proposal, which ordinarily would have no chance whatever, is baited with a provisio for repeal of the sales tax and the further provisio that " No sales tax shall ever be levied or collected in the state." And that bait, to the unthinking voter, irritated by constant demands for tax pennies on his purchases, will be exceedingly alluring unless the dangers of the accompanying "single tax" act are seriously considered.

Predicated on the time worn and oft-rejected theory that unimproved property should be taxed on the same basis as improved property, and on the added assumption that real estate should bear the brunt of the tax burden, the "single tax" would be little short of ruinous to the farming industry.

And there is the added danger that in the event of the failure of regular tax sources to supply the needs of government, the state may automatically levy an ad valorem, or direct state property tax, to take up the slack. In other words, if the people, in protest against all taxation, voted down both the income tax and the sales tax, California farmers and othe common property taxpayers would pay the freightt.

Organized agricluture favored the income tax to wipe out some of the inequalities inherent in the sales tax. Agriculture should fight to retain the income tax and it should also fight against any attempt to substitute the vicious "single tax" for the sales tax. The sales tax, to be sure, is far from a perfect tax, but neither agriculture nor the state as a whole can afford to jump from the frying pan into the fire.

Mrs. Geary Feagans and daughter, Miss Dorothy Feagans, have returned home from a few days visit in Red Bluff.

CONSOLIDATED METALS ORE

Mr. Harry B. Morse, superintendent and general manager of the Cons. Metals northwest of Nevada City, Tuesday forenoon, had in his possession several assays that were made on ore from his property. The average was $130 per ton. The ledge was four feet wide and widening in the two compartment shaft which is down 50 feet. Mr. Morse, who is well pleased with the showing being made stated: "We are out from under cover." Work at the property is running smoothly and indications are for another producer in this territory.

Mrs. Jessie Butters Hostess to Thimble Club

On Wednesday the Willow Valley Thimble Club was entertained at an afternoon at the home of Mrs. Jessie Butters. The hours flew by all too quickly in fancy work and a social time. Dainty refreshments were enjoyed at the close of the enjoyable little affair.

Those present were: Mesdames Carl Tobiassen, Phil Harding, E. J. Pollard, McGee, Frank Williams and sister, Mrs. Carl Fox; Mrs. Roy Clark, Mrs. B. O. Smith, Mrs. Charles Genasci and Miss Melba Williams.

STUDENTS WHO HELPED BUILD ASK VOTERS AID

(By WALTER WARNECKE Student Body Presidnt Nevada City High School.)

During the past, many projects have been planned, worked out and paid for by the student body and alumni of Nevada City high school. It is not the intention of the high school to point out how little the board has done, but to show that the student body and alumni have financed a great number of the projects alone. The work of the board has been appreciated and the board has been active whenever it has called upon.

The projects mentioned above are as follows:

1. Construction of the rock wall done through student body funds.

2. Building of the parking zone accomplished by the student body with the aid of state highway equipment and cooperation of Supervisor Arbogast.

4. Placing of tennis courts by the student body and alumni. The school board has assisted in the building of tennis courts through purchase of materials for SERA labor.

The over crowded conditions at the high school have not been just this year but have existed for the past four years. Anytime that the enrollment exceeds 150 students, over crowded conditions exist.

The students of Nevada City high appeal to the voters of the school district to vote in favor of the school bonds at the special election on October 10.

TAX RATE GOES DOWN, BUT TAX YIELD GOES UP

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 3.—Nevada county government increased the amount it will take from its taxpayers in county taxes by $45,068, or 35.7 per cent over the amount levied last year, according to a study of forty six California counties, recently made by California Taxpayers' association. In other words, where the county government levied taxes to raise $126,203 in 1934-35, it will levy taxes to raise $171,289 for 1935-36. The association found that the assessed value of the county was increased by $8,280,470, because of equalization and the return of the property of the utilities to the local rolls. The county tax rate was decreased 80 cents going from $2,20 in 1934-35 to $1.40 in 1935-36.

Only three of the forty six counties studied, Mendocino, Modoc, and Sutter showed actual reductions in their tax demands, the association pointed out. The city and county of San Francisco reduced its tax demands for general purposes, but increased its tax rate for schools.

In Kings, Tehama and Yuba counties the tax rate for general county purposes was increased. In San Benito county no change was made in the tax rate. The other counties studied showed decreased county tax rates. Assessed values increased in each of the counties studied, the average increase being 25 per cent. In some of the counties assessed value more than doubled, while others received a smaller increase.

The average increase in tax levies in the forty five counties and the city and county of San Francisco was 4.7 per cent over the previous year, the association found. However, excluding Los Angeles county and San Francisco, the average increase for the other forty four counties was 14.1 per cent. Forecasts based on preliminary budget figures, the association stated, indicated the increase in county tax demands might have averaged as high as 21 per cent. The difference represents the actual efforts of boards of supervisors to reduce county costs and, in a measure, the protests of taxpayers against heavier tax burdens.

"Many county budgets have been adopted this year without regard to the expenditures limitation law," the association's study concludes. "The indisputable fact that tax levies have been increased demonstrates the reason why the law was made part of the Riley-Stewart plan. In the light of increased county taxes actually levied this year, taxpayers may well consider the need for and purpose of the expenditure limitation law."

STATE YIELD OF GOLD IN 1934 IS 203,698 OUNCES

According to the Department of the Interior, United States Bureau of Mines reports, production of gold in California for 1934 reached a total of 203,698.13 fine ounces. Of this the lode gold was 95,058.73 fine ounces and the placer 8,619.40 fine ounces.

The report says:

Mining in California virtually is confined to gold mining, and the higher price of gold in 1934 stimulated greatly the development of both old and new properties. Although considerable time is required to prepare for increasing the yields of operating mines, to rehabilitate old properties, and to bring prospects to the producing stage, the effects of the advance in average price per ounce of gold from $25.56 in 1933 to 34.95 in 1934 were evidenced by increases of 17 to 60 per cent, respectively, in the quantity and value of the gold produced in the state and by notable increases in the number of both lode and placer mines operated. The increase in price of gold transformed much vein material too low in grade to be mined profitably heretofore into pay ore, and similarly converted large areas of marginal placer gravel into paying ground. At the end of the year several new bucket dredges were being installed, there was conspicious activity in equipping placers with drag line dredges, and many lode and placer properties were under option. The few copper mines in the state remained closed. Lead mining was active only where the lead ores carried high values in silver, the average price of which

Mr. Otto Gruenwald of Sacramento was a Nevada City visitor Sunday. He stated Mr. Willis E. Bell, who has a lease on part of the Gruenwald property in the Indian Flat section west of Nevada City, has struck rich ore in a vein in development work he is doing.

COURT HOUSE ANNEX NEARS COMPLETION

The additional rooms being built on the Nevada County court house will be completed in about two weeks. Big steel girders are in place and the elevator conveyor is practically done. A lot of forms for the walls are to be constructed. Plasterers are cementing brick into the west walls in the sheriff's office upstairs closing a space which has been supported by steel braces. On the south east side of the new rooms there will be a row of steel sash windows.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Bowman and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stanley of this city spent Sunday on a dove hunt trip west of Grass Valley on the Tahoe-Ukiah highway. They enjoyed a picnic lunch and the men bagged a number of doves.

Mr. L. A. Armstrong of Allerton, Iowa, is visiting old friends in Nevada City. He was a mining engineer in this section leaving here seventeen years ago, and sees many improvements in Nevada City and Grass Valley.

Ed Addington and Jack Hilton returned to Nevada City Sunday from a trip to Yuba, Butte and Plumas counties.

KNOW YOUR COMMUNITY'S BUSINESS FIRMS

The Monumental Makers Art, represented as it is in our community is most worthy of mention in this business review of our leading firms.

The Grass Valley Marble and Granite Works at 316 Kidder Ave., opposite Masonic cemetery, Grass Valley, has contributed in no small measure to our complete commercial activities through their manufctcture of structural stone, grave copings and markers and modern memorials.

Mr. T. J. Ahern is the proprietor and manager of this old reliable firm, having established this business many years ago and has through his years of activity given the public of Nevada County the highest workmanship in the monumental art.

Mr. Ahern is a scholar of the old school, having learned this intricate profession as a boy. He has been 47 years in business.

That the public holds this firm in high esteem is proven by the fact that our cemeteries have many beautiful markers and monuments manufactured by Ahern.

Another point that has proved to the public in many instances, who want only high grade work. . . . so-called machine manufactured monuments, hold no lasting value, a work of permanence and art can only be made through individual workmanship, this is a point that Mr. Ahern adheres to, he fully realizes in making up the individual order.

A marker or monument should be placed in memory to every deceased person. It shows our lasting love and thoughtfulness as well as to preserve earthly remembrances of our loved ones.

Mr. Ahern is justly proud of the type of work he does, proud of the many people he has served and he points to his work as his best recommendation. Let us build for permanance and beauty. Insist upon the best available. Visit the Grass Valley Marble and Granite Works.

The sort of auto accident which killed two young women on the Redwood bridge across the north end of Richmond Bay, near Sausalito, the other day is enough to make one stop and wonder whether human beings will ever learn to drive sanely.

It is enough, almost, to make one drop all efforts to cut down the auto's awful toll and say. "O. K. America—it's your funeral."

These two young women were out for a lark. They were trying to get away from a traffic officer who was risking his own life attempting to catch them. At 70 miles per hour they catapulted into the curve, wavered a brief second, then crashed into a railing of the bridge. The driver was thrown to the marsh 50 feet below. The other girl was crushed in the wreckage of the car.

It is a pity these two should have to die, and it is a pity to have to speak of them now. But if drivers are ever to understand the consequences of wilful recklessness, such things must be repeated.

The two young women have paid for their crime. It is only fortunate that they did not meet another car on the bridge, so that others who were blameless would have had to pay also. Perhaps it is a person's privilige to take his own life in his hands—but it is palpably not his privilege to endanger the lives of others.

Can people—will people—ever learn to drive sanely? If so, they ought certainly to find a moral in an accident of this sort.

Key to Self Government

(Contributed)

When the thirty-seventh annual convention of the League of California Municipalities adjourned in San Francisco last week, eight hundred delegates headed back to twenty widely-scattered cities of this state with a better understanding of their mutual problems.

Among others, they had heard Ray L. Riley, Controller, tell of progress made in methods of equalizing taxation; they had heard Earl Warren, District Attorney of Alameda County, talk of the headaches attendant upon being a chief law enforcer, and what to do for them.

Local governments, the first and most intimate of that vast structure which presides over us, are in a sense more important even than the Federal government. These are the source of the voter's say in public affairs. One lone person cannot be heard effectually by the Congress of the United States.

In learning better how to solve local government problems, the delegates to the recent convention have contributed much to the one great problem — effective self-government.

HARVEST HOME AT TRINITY SUNDAY

The Annual Harvest Home Service will be held at Trinity Episcopal church on Sunday evening next at 7:30 o'clock.

Dorsey, Louis Hooper, John Matthems and Gladstone Cocks. Solo parts in the anthems will be taken by Mesdames Heather, Ellery and Middlewick.

Solos also will be sung by several members of Trinity choir.

This annual Harvest Home service has always drawn a full congregation. The public is cordially invited to attend.

SCHOOL NEWS FROM NORTH SAN JUAN

(By THE PUPILS)

The following pupils in the North San Juan school had a perfect attendance record for the first month of school: Fred Clark, Betty Jean Young, Lois McQuin, Quentin Ennis, Jerry McQuinn, Auralee Strand, Melba Ennis, Betty McQuinn, Alice Clark, Loretta Miller, and Edwin Clark.

It might be a good idea to recall at this time that the apportionment of state funds is based upon attendance and these children have been outstanding for this month.

Mrs. Sydney Strand is teaching the San Juan school this term and she reports she is very much pleased with her pupils and the progress they are making Mrs Strand taught five years at Goodyears Bar and has proven to be very capable. The San Juan parents feel they are very fortunate in having her teach the thirty five children in this school.

Mrs. Strand is making final preparations to organize a P. T. A. in this school. Mrs. E. P. Stoll of Sacramento who is extension chairman of the District California Congress of Parents and Teachers is planning to make a business visit here very shortly and set the organzation wheels in motion.

The perfect attendance children were given the opportunity of writing up the news for the Nevada City Nugget. All together thehe were 11 fine little letters written but only those containing the most news concerning the school were selected.

NEW EXTENSION

We have a new room built on the old room in our school. There are thirty five children. Fourteen boys and twenty one girls. The children from the first grade to the fourth sit in the little room. When we make noise in the big room teacher says, "Be quiet Cubs" or if the small room is guilty, "Be still kittens." We have new blackboards and curtains in the small room.

Geraldine Lois Thompson.

BASKET BALL

We have only one ball at our school and the boys and girls are always fighting over it. The teacher has made a rule so we wont have fights. The girls have the ball in the afternoon and the boys in the morning. Since then we have had no more fights.

PERSONAL

Charles Barker, son of E. E. Barker, who is attending the University of California underwent an appendectomny at the university hospital last week, and is recovering nicely.

Miss Retha Downey of Smartsville spent Sunday visiting in Nevada City with her mother, Mrs. George Downey and other family members. Her brother, Alan Downey, who suffered injuries to a leg in a fall in a local mine, is able to be about the house with a cane.

Halstead Downey is spending some time in Sanger. His sister, Mrs. Earl Beatty, is slowly recovering from a most severe operation. She was the former Miss Halyse Downey of this city.

Mrs. George Downey is in receipt of a letter from her son, Merton Downey in the Philippine Islands, in which he states they have had a terrible typhoon, the worst in 40 years. It did considerable damage to the bridges and the wind was terrific.

Mrs. Ida Cowan and daughter, Mrs. Clayton Richards, returned to their home in San Francisco last week end. They were called to the bedside of Mrs. Cowan's daughter, Mrs. Helen Foote of Grass Valley several days ago. Mrs. Cowan will return in a few days to make a longer stay with Mrs. Foote.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fischer of San Jose were calling on Mr. and Mrs. Charles Guenther of this city Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Fischer are former residents of Nevada City and enjoy frequent trips here to visit friends.

Mrs. Belle Bernheim who lived in Nevada City for many years as the former Belle Miller is the guest of Mrs. F. T. Nilon and will remain for about a week.

Traffic Officer William C. Fouyer is confined to his home suffering from the after effects of a severe spell of tonsilitis. His many friends hope he will soon be about.

Mrs. C. S. Libbey has recovered sufficiently from a sick spell in the last few days to be able to resume her duties in the Washington grammar school as musical instructor.

NEVADA CITY GRIDDERS LOSE TO GRASS VALLEY

(By BEN SWEENEY).

Outweighed by a heavier Grass Valley team and handicapped through a large part of the game by injuries to Stevens and Steger, the Nevada City high Yellowjackets were only able to hold the Grass Valley Miners to a 22 to 7 score. The two A teams met on the Grass Valley gridiron on Wednesday afternoon for the first of the two-game series between the two cities. Ray Steger was elected to captain the team the night previous to the game by the members of the team, and his loss during the game through his turning his ankle left a severe hole in the line up. Stevens, star quarterback, went out with a cut over his eye which will soon heal but which was serious enough to keep him out of the struggle.

With fumbles right at the beginning of the game, the Nevada City boys made a bad start. A bad throw from center caused a fumble that was recovered by a Miner for a safety in the first quarter. During this quarter they also made a touchdown which was converted. Grass Valley succeeded in scoring during the second and third quarters, making a touchdown during each session.

In the last quarter, Burgens ran a criss-cross through center for fifteen yards to chalk up Nevada City's only tally. A conversion was successful. With a will to victory coming too late in the game, the Yellowjackets passed from their own fifteen yard line to the three yard line of their opponents. Finally, within one and a half yards from another goal, the boys were only able to gain a half yard before the whistle that ended on a 22 to 7 score.

The starting team was: Left-end, lEliott; left-tackle, Jim Stephens; left-guard, Roberts; center, Tobiassen; right-guard, Doolittle; right-tackle, Moulton; right-end, Steger; quarter, Stevens; left-half, Younkin; right-half, Jones; fullback, Burgen. All of the boys saw action during the contest.

Tomorrow afternoon at 2:15 the Nevada City eleven will meet the Auburn team on the home field. It is hoped that a large number of fans will attend to watch the boys attempt to return to the win side of the score sheet. The Auburn eleven is one of the toughest teams on the schedule, but it is always certain that the locals will put upa strong battle regardless of the odds.

Mrs Ella M Austin, county superintendent of schools, is to leave tomorrow for southern California where she will attend a convention of county superintendents at Coronado.

KNOW YOUR COMMUNITY'S BUSINESS FIRMS

In this business review of our community's progress we desire to point out those firms and individuals who not only appreciate the past patronage they have received, but who are at all times endeavoring to give a better service to their customers.

The Jeffery Cleaners, located at 109 South Church Street, Grass Valley is owned and managed by Mr. and Mrs. Lee Jeffery. This firm has in each instance qualified itself in turning out work that compares with firms located in our larger cities.

Many people have the idea that they can clean their clothes at home, and that they can save money by doing it themselves. Needless to say it takes proper equipment, experience and a knowledge of fabrics to do cleaning that will give satisfaction. Jeffery Cleaners have all of the proper combinations to give only the finest workmanship.

In addition to the cleaning and pressing of garments this firm does dyeing, hat cleaning, curtain work, blanket renovating, in fact they are so equipped that they can take care of everything and anything in garment and household items.

Why take chances on ruining a fine garment, evening gown or suit by getting inferior workmanship. Jeffery Cleaners do it better . . . cleaner and quicker.

This firm has built up a large business throughout the entire area, they have satisfied each customer with the type of workmanship that always brings them back. There is a reason. Quality, Service and Price.

Of course you will want to look your best at all times, let us suggest that you look about your clothes closet, get out those winter and fall garments and send them today to Jeffery Cleaners. The service was never any better, the prices never any lower.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey take real pride in giving the Twin Cities only the best that can be had anywhere in cleaning and dyeing service.

KENTON MINE

It is reported Frank Davies of Nevada City is hauling mine timbers and lumber to the Kenton mine about three miles east of Alleghany. The management is taking in the winter supplies of groceries and materials for steady operation through the winter months. Mr George Gamble of the Proctor and Gamble Soap Company, spends much time at the property, and thousands of dollars have been spent in maknig this one of the finest and most modern of the mines in this whole territory.

Mrs. Frank Davies of Nevada City had as visitors Monday her brother, Robert Craig, and Mrs. Vera Fink of Forest Hill.

RAGON MINE

Diamond drilling has started in the underground workings of the Ragon mine to test ore bodies Work of drifting in the shaft continues.

This mine lies in a district that has had very little mining done in recent years. In the last few days rich ore has been struck in two newly opened properties, the Gruenwald property to the southwest, and the Consoldated Metals to the northeast. Mr. O. McCraney is superintendent of the Ragon mine.

Mr. Irving Long returned Monday from a convention of insurance men at Del Monte, having enjoyed a most interesting and instructive meeting.

TRAFFIC DEATHS IN 7 MONTHS IN STATE ARE 1,430

California's traffic accident record thus far this year has shown slight if any improvement over the same period of 1934, which was the worst year in total traffic deaths and injuries that the state has experienced. Traffic dangers naturally increase sharply during winter months and those months will soon be here again. The coming of unfavorable weather easily may cause the 1935 totals of killed and injured to be as bad as those of 1934, if not worse.

This condition is emphasized in a statement by Percy E. Towne, chairman of the Public Safety Committee of the California Automobile Association, announcing that an immediate effort is being launched by the motorists' organization to combat the threat of a worse accident record this year. Particular attention will be given to increased dangers that the motorist must reckon with during winter. The statement reviews the situation as follows:

SEVEN MONTHS BAD RECORD

"Complete official figures on traffic accidents to date this year are not available, but the showing for the first seven months is sufficiently significant. The seven months' total of California traffic deaths this year was 1,430, compared with 1,466 for the same period last year. This decrease in deaths might be construed as an improvement but we find that 25,407 persons were injured in 18,235 traffic accidents, 440 more injured in 169 more accidents than in the same period of 1934.

"The month of October has been designated by the Association Board of Directors for beginning a concentration of activities in furtherance of traffic safety. The effort is not to be regarded as any merely sporadic campaign or drive. Rather it will be an intensification of the constant year round efforts that the association has carried on year after year in cooperation with other groups in the hope of making some headway against the accident problem.

POOR READER MAY BE PROBLEM CHILD

Deficiency in reading ability is an important factor in the progress made by boys and girls in high school, according to a study made by Mrs. Ruby Hill, who is carrying on work at the University of California high school here designed to remedy this handicap.

In certain sections of American history, class work in comprehension, speed and vocabulary study is being carried on. Students have been given standardized reading tests. Those who have been retarded in their reading ability are grouped in special classes.

All students are given a thorough physical examination to determine first of all whether defectve vision or other physical factors are the cause of faulty reading. Many cases are due, not to physical reasons but to deficient reading background and underdeveloped reading interest. It is significant that many of the problem cases with which the teachers have to deal have their basis in the student's inability to read.

Mrs. William Maguire of this city spent Monday in Roseville vsiting with her sister, Mrs. George Mulnix.

Debris and Fire Prevention

It was by the pile of debris that I met him,
A fireman as cross as could be;
I can still see the trash lying around him
Where we met by the pile of debris.
He repulsed every effort to soothe him,
"You're a real public nuisance," said he,
"And a menace to friends and to neighbors
With your fire breeding pile of debris.

"Here are old papers seared by the sunlight,
And grass that's as dry as can be,
Here are rags, empty cartoons and boxes
Heaped up on your pile of debris.
If a fire should break out in your garden
While the wind blew from mountain or sea,
The town would be showered with fire brands
From this miserable pile of debris.

It was by the pile of debris that he told me
His scathing opinions of me,
And said. "You should be in the hoose gow
For maintaining this pile of debris;
Your attic is cluttered with rubbish,
Your basement's the same—I can see;
Old spontaneous combustion will get you
If you cling to this pile of debris.
It was on the pile of debris that I labored—
And the task was a new one for me,
To destroy in the short time he gave me
That unsightly pile of debris.
I cleaned up the attic and basement,
And now every fireman can see,
That fires I've prevented this season
By discarding my piles of debris.
